Dedication

To Henrietta Thornton

Who, since the year 1895, has been an efficient and inspiring instructor of art in our college

Who, for ten years, has filled the position of Head of the Art Department and whose stimulating presence has always made her classwork a joy as well as an Education

In recognition of her charming personality and in appreciation of the cordial welcome with which she has opened to us her home and shared the treasures of art brought from distant cities and foreign lands

We enthusiastically dedicate this volume of student memories.

Morning and Evening

I SAW the morning, with purple quiver and burnished bow, stand tiptoe on the horizon, and shoot sunbeams at the vanishing darkness of night, then reach up and gather the stars and hide them in her bosom, and then bend down and tickle the slumbering world with straws of light till it woke with laughter and with song. A thousand bugle-calls from the rosy fires of the east heralded her coming; a thousand smiling meadows kissed her garments as she passed, and ten thousand laughing gardens unfurled their flower-flags to greet her. The heart of the deep forest throbbed a tribute of bird-song, and the bright waters rippled a melody of welcome. Young life and love, radiant with hope and sparkling with dew drops of exultant joy, came hand in hand, tripping and dancing in her shining train, and I wished that the heaven of the morning might last forever.

"I saw the evening hang her silver crescent on the sky and rival the splendor of the dawn with the glory of the twilight. I saw her wrap the shadows around her, and with a lullaby on her lips, rock the weary world to rest; then I saw her with her dipper full of dew drops and her basket full of dreams, slip back to the horizon of the morning and steal the stars again. The gardens furled their flag flowers and the meadows fell asleep; the song of the forest melted into silence and the melancholy waters whispered a pensive good night to the drowsy birds and sleepy hollows. Life and love with halo of parting day upon their brows and the starlight tangled in their hair, walked arm in arm among the gathering shadows and wove all the sweet memories of the morning into their happy evening that it might never end.

"Thus life steals us from the dust. We wake to think and sleep to dream. We love, and laugh, and weep, and sing, and sigh, until death steals us back to dust again."

—"Bob" Taylor.

Readers of the Annual, meet the Freshman B.A.'s. Just because you have never met any of them in chapel is no reason for supposing they are not in school. They are, and we firmly believe that they are just about the most important element in school, for no college would be complete without them.

We shall endeavor in this short essay to give a few of the many points in which Freshmen excel. The girls are singularly cultured and taciturn. They have never been known to make a vulgar display of their vocal prowess at pep meetings. It is rumored that a low class of mortals known as Sophomores take great pride in this accomplishment. A Freshman girl won first prize in the contest held under the auspices of the Society for the Suppression of Speech. By a superhuman effort, she managed to refrain from talking or giggling for one consecutive minute.

And again, no one has ever seen these girls powdering their respective noses in public. We are truly sorry that the same thing cannot be said of the Juniors.

Professors are eager to get Freshmen in their classes for they never bore their instructors with long, detailed recitations. Every one knows what a horrible experience it is to remain conscious for a whole hour while Seniors expound anaesthetically upon their daily assignment.

Now a few lines to tell of the importance of the stronger sex. They have an abnormal tendency toward the habitual use of difficult words. Without the constant attendance of the dictionary, they are exceedingly hard to understand, as is shown by the symbols on their grade cards. Like their worthy sisters, they are endowed with a justifiable air of conscious superiority. They realize that the upperclassmen are laboring constantly in their ponderous efforts to make the Freshmen appear ridiculous. But even in those misguided initiation ceremonies, the upperclassmen fall far short of the mark. For that polished surface that the Freshmen present to the world is composed of sympathy and intelligence and is warranted blister-proof even under the heat of the most vitriolic comments.

Prophecy

"The Kindergarten Class of 1923!" The black eyes of the crystal gazer looked up into mine, inquiringly.

"Yes," I answered. "What does the future hold in store for them?"

The swarthy features of my predestinator slowly relaxed into a smile, while she deftly drew from her bosom an object enclosed in fine silk. From the silken folds she drew out a crystal ball, into the depths of which she gazed intently. I waited breathlessly for what seemed to me hours. Finally, with a far-away look in her dreamy eyes, she slowly began to give me the information for which I hungered.

"First of all I see a dark-haired, medium sized woman, your sponsor, I believe, named Miss James. She is president of the Kindergarten Education Association. Her influence is wide spread and is extending far into foreign lands."

"Miss Dickey, I see, is head of the Kindergarten Department at I.S.T.C."

"Vallie Strohbehn, Norma Slosson, Lynne Forward, Lucile Horst, Gladys Yetter and Etta Gray are teaching kindergartens of their own in Iowa, making great successes of them, faithfully following the principles set forth in their various theories during their kindergarten training."

"Evelyn Kerr, Gladys Miller, Marie Schach, Helen Bergquist and Ruth Cederholm have established the kindergarten along modern lines in foreign fields and have gained recognition equal to Froebel."

"Inez Jensen, Dorice Coffin, Nellie Small, Vesta Paul, Lucile Dawson, and Darlene Decker are happily engaged in household arts, as they became entangled in the snare of matrimony early."

"Delight Yarcho, Virginia Dowland, Thelma Holmdahl, Leone Hummel and Margaret Parks are doing government work for the children of the Four Hundred in New York City."

"Maurine Boggs has risen to the pinnacle of fame aspired to by many of us, that of teaching the Prince of Wales rhythm work, as he seems to be especially immature in that subject."

"Fern Freshwater is canvassing the country making stump speeches to propagate the spirit of kindergarten in every corner of the earth."

"Alyce Hadley, Wilma Kenny and Mary Stewart are making use of the experience gained in rhythm work during kindergarten training at I. S. T. C. in their very successful dancing in the chorus of the Ziegfield Follies."

"Ruby Scheneberger has strayed from the paths of education and has gone down in the whirlpool of movie acting in Hollywood."

I suppressed my laughter as I thanked the seer and swiftly made my departure.

Jokes

Miss James: "What do you think of this song, Miss Clark?"

Miss Clark: "It needs ventilating."

Miss James: "Needs ventilating?"

Miss Clark: "Yes, the air is bad."

Irene Meyer: "Have you done your outside reading yet?"

Marjorie Momyer: "No. Mama wrote that it is too cold to read outside."

Miss James: "Bring your written observation to class tomorrow."

Miss Barr: "Do we have to write it, Miss James?"

Miss Pearse: "I'm trying hard to get ahead."

Miss Moulby: "Goodness knows you need one bad enough."

Vera Wallace: "What three words do you use most?"

Dorothy Payne: "I don't know."

Vera Wallace: "Correct."

Miss Petersen: "Why is April the laziest month of the year?"

Miss Pilson: "Because everyone is tired after a March of thirty-one days."

Jerry: "What is the difference between a mouse and a young lady?"

Jen: "One harms the cheese, the other charms the he's."

Miss Crawford: "What is the difference between a postage stamp and a donkey?"

Miss Jamison: "One you stick with a lick, the other you lick with a stick."

The Football Season

The opening of the football season saw several of the old men gone and a necessity for training some raw material for the varsity. However there was an unlimited amount of material present in the 115 men who reported to Mendenhall for the first work-out, besides several of the letter men who had won their laurels on the Teachers gridiron. Among these were Capt. Ralph Hicks, Wesley Hicks, Bailey, Brandes, Garramoni, Shearer and Fottral, while a few of the subs from last year's squad were able to fill the places of the men who graduated. Before the opening of the season followers of the Tutor football squad were rather doubtful regarding the prospects for the season about to open, and Mendenhall drilled the squad to the limit every afternoon in an attempt to find a combination that could best be played in the first and hardest battle of the season, when the team went to Cornell. After the season was over and the team had made football history for the college by winning five out of seven games, and by showing others that we had a real team of fighters, everyone was unanimous in the belief that a new era had been started in Teachers College athletics.

Coach Mendenhall who has been with us for the last two seasons has set a new standard for Teachers College athletics. During his time here, he has put out some of the best athletic teams that ever represented the college, teams that have gone through the season with only one or two defeats against them. Not only more victories have been gained, but the spirit displayed by the men playing under him has made us proud of our athletics, and has made us hope for greater victories in the future under his leadership.

CORNELL GAME

If anyone had doubts regarding the strength of the team, they were surely removed when the final whistle blew at the end of the first game of the season, from which the Tutors emerged on the long end of a 3 to 0 score over Cornell. In this game, every man was in splendid condition, and although out-weighted by their opponents, they were not out-fought and played the husky Cornellians to a 0 to 0 tie till within thirty seconds of the final whistle, when the Tutors had the ball on Cornell's 15 yard line, and Hoon drop-kicked the winning score of the game. In the encounter, the Tutors showed about the strongest combination of the season, with H. Hicks, Bailey, Hoon and Shearer in the backfield, and Posegate, Garramoni, Brandes, R. Hicks, Galloway, Fottral, and Perry in the line.

BUENA VISTA GAME

The second game of the season was played in a sea of mud and water, making it impossible to play good football. Buena Vista gained a field goal early in the contest which won the game by a score of 3 to 0. At the beginning of the second period the rain began coming down in bucketfuls and only a few of the most loyal supporters stayed in the bleachers, the rest being satisfied with hearing of the progress of the game inside the gymnasium as it was relayed to them by the more fortunate spectators.

ELLSWORTH GAME

Ellsworth College of Iowa Falls was next to go down before the powerful offense of the Tutors by a score of 20 to 3. The game was without a doubt the poorest game of the season, for never before have the Tutors played in a game that was represented by so much law and order and so little legal interference. The end of the first half saw Ellsworth on the long end of a 3 to 0 score, but the second half the Tutors came back with blood in their eye, and went through their opponents like a woman through her husband's pockets. Fottral, Garramoni and Ransom were responsible for the three touchdowns, while Harsch made his debut in the Tutor backfield. Posegate and Brandes were the star linemen of the game.

PARSONS GAME

At Fairfield the following week, the Tutors had their day off and were unable to score against Parsons College, being defeated by a margin of 3 to 0. Bailey featured in the backfield, while Roeder and Orr made their first appearance in the Tutor line and looked good.

UPPER IOWA GAME

The team put a fitting finish to the successful season of 1922 when they tramped on Coach Dormant's Peacocks in one of the hardest fought battles of the season, by a score of 14 to 12. A long pass by Hoon to Fottral over the Peacock goal line early in the first half netted the first touchdown for the Tutors and the second came when Roeder grabbed an Upper Iowa fumble and raced fifty yards for a touchdown. A large crowd followed the team on this trip, the college band playing and putting pep into the large audience of students and Cedar Falls business men who followed the team.

SIMPSON GAME

Although not the best played game of the season, it was, no doubt, the hardest fought, and the team received wonderful support from the sidelines. In the homecoming game when the Pedagogs walked off the field with a 7 to 6 victory over the big Methodists from Indianola, Andrews, playing half, made the only touchdown for the Tutors and added the extra point with a neat drop kick. Bailey and W. Hicks featured in the backfield with line smashes that gained most of the ground for the Tutors. Garramoni featured in the line, recovering Methodist fumbles with unusual regularity.

PENN GAME

Penn College of Oskaloosa proved an easy victim for the smashing Tutors, and were defeated here by a score of 21 to 0. Hoon, Harsch and W. Hicks alternated in carrying the ball around the ends for the big gains, while Bailey hit the line when necessary to make a first down. Posegate and Fottral featured in the line, although at no point did the visitors have an opportunity of going through that line that held like a stone wall.

Basketball 1922-23

The cage season opened with only three men of last year's squad out, and the necessity for breaking in some new men to fill the shoes left vacant by members who graduated the year before. However, in the opening game of the season, the Tutor basket tossers showed their ability by handing a defeat to the strong Cornell five by a score of 22 to 21. In the first few games of the season, Ike Perry was undoubtedly the high point winner, making three or four field goals in every game, with Bud McKinstry running him a close second, for high honors and playing a wonderful game. Capt. Jimmy Fottrall, although unable to find the loop in the early part of the season, found his batting eye toward the close of the season and played stellar basketball. Starbuck showed himself to be one of the best running guards the Tutors have had on the floor for many moons, and Moore and Morgan, two new men, who alternated at the standing guard position, were responsible for keeping the opponents at long range most of the time. Several of the men who played sub this year had an opportunity to show their stuff at various occasions, and there is every reason to believe that with an added year of experience, these men should make another team of which the Teachers can be as proud as of the aggregation this year, which lost only one game and that by a point margin.

1923

Captain "Jimmy" Fottrall, has led the team thru what has, without a doubt, proved one of the most successful seasons in Tutor basketball, and has played a game that is well worthy of the leader of the squad. Always a good, clean sportsman, he has set an example as a leader of the team that should be long remembered in the history of Tutor sports, for he has always shown the same determination in every branch of athletics in which he has taken part.

"Ike" Perry, always fighting and putting fight into the whole team, has proved himself to be one of the best centers in the state, which is a real distinction of which the College ought be proud. Perry played the standing guard position last year, but this year was shifted to the pivot position and during the entire season has proved one of the big point winners on the squad.

"Bud" McKinstry played his last year of college basketball this year, and it was undoubtedly the best he has ever played. Covering the floor in great shape and a wonderful shot, "Bud" has put many of the games of the past successful season on ice by his determination and fight when baskets were necessary for a victory. His graduation this spring will be a big loss to Tutor athletics, because of his ability and willingness to work.

“Kenny” Starbuck is one of the best guards that ever worked on the local floor and a big factor in keeping the visitors from running up scores in close contests. He has been a consistent player, his floor work and dribbling being one of the features of the team work that put the Tutors through the cage season.

“Bud” Moore has played guard on the quintet most of the season and for playing his first year has done remarkably well at the standing guard. He has the marks that have made this year’s team famous, being a real fighter and going at top speed all the time he is in the game.

“Red” Morgan, playing his first year, has shown a lot of stuff and possibilities for becoming one of the best basketeters in the state. Red has played both at guard and center this season and in both places has played a game that is a real credit to the team on which he played “Andy” Andrews, in the game in which he has played, has shown that he makes up in fight what he lacks in size. He also has an unlimited amount of endurance and speed.

“Lefty” Harris, although he has played only part of the games this season, has shown a lot of speed and should make a strong bid for a place on the regular varsity next year.

“Hank” Harmon has been a man who has helped take care of the boys who have represented the Tutors on the field. He has always been there with a word of encouragement to the fellows who needed it, and he is a real booster for Tutor athletics.

Track 1922-23

With only two veterans from last year's squad out for track, at the beginning of the season, Coach Bender built a team that took second place in the Iowa Conference track meet, in which thirteen of the leading colleges in the state took part. During the entire season the men improved in form but the weakness of material for the weights put the Tutors in rather deep as they had to depend almost entirely upon their cinder-path experts to bring home the bacon. Ira Perry, who captained the team, was almost a track team by himself, and in every meet in which the Tutors participated, went out and placed in two or three events, taking second place for individual honors in the Iowa Conference meet, held here, and walking away with premier honors in a dual meet with Dubuque College.

Sixty-five men reported for track at the opening of the track season this year, and although it is rather early to make any predictions, prospects for one of the most successful seasons in the history of the college are bright. With Ira Perry, Captain-elect Warren Dickenson, Bert Van Der Brink, Elson and several other good men from last year's track artists, there is every reason to believe that the coming season is going to be a success.

Baseball Season 1922

The season opened with several of the old standbys gone, and a necessity for breaking in a lot of new material. Coach Mendenhall issued the first call for practice about the middle of March, and a large number of men reported for the first work-out. In spite of the numbers, hitters seemed to be rather short, and the Tutors finished the season with only four victories out of eleven games played. In the first game of the season the Tutors lost to the University of Iowa by a score of 7 to 0 and in the second encounter lost to Luther by a score of 3 to 1. The team went up in the air the next week at Dubuque and lost by a tally of 9 to 3. They staged a comeback in the first home game by handing a defeat to Luther by a score of 6 to 3. Paulson's fast one proved too much for the Tutors and they were only able to garner one run at Cornell while their opponents grabbed off three. Five to two was the score when they lost to Upper Iowa in the next game played at home.

The Morningside game was undoubtedly the feature contest of the season, when the visitors led the Tutors by a 5 to 3 count in the first of the ninth. The Tutors came back soon and tied the score when de Neui put one over the fence with one on. In the last of the tenth, after holding the visitors for the first part of it, Dickenson stepped up and gave the ball a ride over the left field barrier, putting the game on ice. In the last four games the Tutors took two victories, defeating Columbia by a score of 3 to 2 although it took the umpire all night to decide the winner, and Parsons went down by a 3 to 0 count in the final contest of the season.

Wrestling

For the first time in Tutor history, wrestling was listed as an inter-collegiate sport, when the local grapplers cleaned up on the Cornell mat-men to the tune of 16 to 8. At the beginning of the winter term, a large group of wrestlers reported to Coach Bender for wrestling, and those who had possibilities of making the team started a real course of training and worked hard every afternoon in order to be in condition, and they deserve a lot of credit for the way they worked, having little idea of what college wrestling really was. However, they certainly started the sport out right by handing a defeat to Cornell, and there is no doubt that every person who attended the meet came out confirmed in the belief that wrestling had come to stay and to take its place among the other major sports of the college. Having no idea of the strength of the Cornell team, the Tutors worked unusually hard and were in splendid condition when the mat-men from Mount Vernon came up intent on winning the meet with six falls, and sent the visitors home defeated. In the first event the Cornellians won five points, when Stevens lost to Van Ettan. However the Tutors came back strong in the other events, allowing the visitors only one decision in the other five bouts.

THE MEET

- 115 lb. class—Stevens lost to Van Ettan, by a fall.
- 125 lb. class—Shearer won decision over Meffert of Cornell.
- 135 lb. class—Truckenmiller of Cornell defeated Ransom by decision.
- 145 lb. class—Miller threw Erbe of Cornell.
- 158 lb. class—Vogel won decision over Sherk of Cornell.
- 175 lb. class—Fay won a fall from Fox of Cornell.

Gymnastics

After lying dormant for several seasons, gymnastics again came back strong and Coach Bender developed a team that, although they held no meets with other colleges, put on several exhibitions during the season. Exhibitions were given between halves of basketball games to the supreme delight of the spectators, and the men did some very clever work on the apparatus, showing the result of hard work.

With several of the men who have taken up gymnastics this season coming back to school next year, there is every reason to believe that the Tutors will again be represented in college gymnastic meets.

Coach Paul Bender has, since coming here, rejuvenated the sport of gymnastics, turned out a winning wrestling team and coached winning track teams. His personality is without a doubt one of the big factors in his ability to get the utmost amount of work out of the men under him. His work has not been in vain for he has helped put the Tutors in the front rank of Iowa athletics.

Women's Athletics

During the winter months, a good deal of work has been done to try to have a Woman's Athletic Association at the college, and from the interest being shown, there is every reason to believe that it will become a reality in the very near future. The object of the Association will be to give the girls something to work for and look forward to, as there will necessarily be many requirements for membership in order to make it an honorary organization. At the present time, although no organization has been formed, certain qualifications have been made that will have to be fulfilled in order to become charter members. Miss Wild said that because of the number of short term students in college, it has been rather difficult to give all the girl students a chance of becoming members, but now they have worked out a system in which the girls can begin to get credit or points in their first term of physical training, which makes it possible for all girls who are interested to become members. During the last year, several new courses have been added to the physical training department, among them clog dancing and natural gymnastics. A good deal of interest has been shown in clog dancing, and during the winter months girls of the department have put on several demonstrations of the old negro clog dances. During the first term, only girls on physical training courses were allowed to take this course, but during the spring term all students have been allowed to enter the classes. The natural gymnastics is also making progress and is meeting with a good deal of enthusiasm from the students and has undoubtedly come to stay.

The Student Council is made up of representatives from the various classes. It meets from time to time to discuss and act upon matters of general interest to the students of the college.

Although a comparatively new institution at Teachers College, it ranks high among student organizations because of its numerous and important duties. School functions such as Home Coming, the May Fete, school dances and parties are placed in the hands of the Council.

No Student Council can carry to a successful conclusion these duties without the help of individuals and other organizations. May the future Councils have the same wholehearted cooperation as the present one now enjoys.

Since its inception in 1910, the English Club has held steadily to its three-fold aim, namely, "to foster good fellowship among its members, to stimulate interest in scholarship in English, and to promote the efficient teaching of English in public schools."

The personnel of the Club is made up partly of all the teachers in the English departments of the college and of the Training School, with Miss Luse, Mrs. Walker, and President Seerley as honorary members. Student members are elected upon recommendation of the membership committee. Until this year, eligibility to student membership was based entirely upon a certain amount of credit for work in English. At the beginning of this year the constitution was amended to the effect that students who had declared their intention to take English or Public Speaking as their major line of study become eligible at once to membership in the Club. The student membership has been maintained at the maximum. Attendance at meetings has been highly gratifying and the enthusiasm and interest of members has been steady and strong.

THEODORE R. GUNDY
DIRECTOR

A new standard of musical attainment was established in the Benefit Concert for the Student Loan Fund, given by the orchestra February 27, 1923. Prof. Lowell E. M. Wells, Baritone, and Louise Fuerste, Violinist, were the assisting soloists.

This same program was given by the orchestra in its concerts at Independence, Waverly, and Charles City, where it met with such deserved approval and praise that return engagements were requested.

In the coming year, Prof. Gundry, who has worked four years to bring the orchestra to its present high standard, intends to take it on tour, which will mark an unprecedented achievement for the orchestra of our college, and colleges in general.

Young Mens Christian Association

No organization which has not some real, elevating purpose has a right to a place in our college. Our faculty and student clubs and literary societies direct the intellectual growth of the students; the Physical Education Department and athletics provide for their physical development. The Y. M. C. A. cooperates with these in the intellectual growth by special discussions of topics of the day and by bringing here speakers of renown; it aids in physical development by athletic contests held under its auspices. But aside from these it has a distinct, individual purpose, free fellowship, man to man, and spiritual fellowship.

With the increasing number of men in the college, this purpose assumes greater proportions. One hundred sixty members, besides many who are not members, make daily use of the hospitality of its rooms.

The Morning Watch and the Thursday morning meetings afford the men their only opportunities for regular comradeship in worship and spiritual discussion. In the Sunday evening meetings the men join the Y. W. C. A. girls in their devotional meetings.

In November our president, Paul Henry, attended the international Y. M. C. A. convention in Atlantic City for the ten day session. The group of men directing this organization attended the Lake Geneva Institute last summer and the state conventions in the fall and winter. All returned filled with the zeal that has made the Y. M. C. A. so successful this year.

Young Womens Christian Association

Fifty years ago in the Illinois State Normal at Normal, Illinois, the first student Y. W. C. A. was organized. During the years that have passed since its origin, this type of Association work has spread into almost every college in our country and its membership at the present time is nearly one hundred thousand. These student Associations have been gaining in national solidarity and in self-direction, and today they can be fittingly described as forming a 'student movement', of which the members of all local Association are a very real part.

The Young Women's Christian Association at Iowa State Teachers College was one of the pioneer Associations in the state of Iowa. It was organized in 1886, and it has been a decided factor in helping to maintain the high religious and moral atmosphere which is characteristic of our college. The direction and measure of its efforts is found in the purpose which challenges the moral earnestness and the highest ideals of its members. Its aim is to vitalize the Christianity of all students, so that they not only accept the things for which Jesus Christ stands, but seek to live as his "true follower."

The program of the Y. W. C. A. has evolved from time to time to meet the needs of the students. It has become more varied and its contributions in the way of religious education, social activity, social service and world fellowship have become more tangible and satisfactory. Religious education is fostered through the Sunday evening meetings, daily devotional meetings, Bible study classes and special meetings such as those carried on in April by Dr. C. W. Gilkey of Chicago. The social activities consist largely of receptions, parties, teas, cozies and hikes. Its program of social service includes responsibility for student employment. A large number of students have found work through the efforts of the Y. W. C. A. Students have been secured to serve as teachers in the community mission school, and occasional musical programs have been given there and in the Old Folks Home. Study courses on community leadership have been provided and actual training in the way of club work has been undertaken. Through study courses, meetings and pageants an attempt has been made to awaken among the students a genuine spirit of world fellowship, that they might have a more intelligent interest in the conditions and needs of the people of other countries. Through participating in the World's Week of Prayer and through sharing in the Student Friendship Fund many students have already entered into a sense of fellowship with students around the world.

One policy of the Association has been to bring to the college each year one or two well known speakers who would stimulate the interest of students in social questions and in religious thinking. Certainly the opportunity to secure a lecture date with Miss Maude Royden of London, the world's greatest woman preacher, was a very rare one, and the talk which she gave was one of the most forceful addresses ever given in the college auditorium. The series of meetings by Dr. Gilkey of Chicago were most practical and inspiring. By his simple, straightforward message he helped to clarify the thinking and bring a new direction and power in the lives of many of the students who heard him.

The Catholic Students Association was chartered to this intitution in 1903 under the name of the Newman Society. Since that time the Association has been doing work with an aim of mutual helpfulness and goodfellowship of all its members. Furthermore there exists good will toward all religious organizations in the college.

The chapter here is affiliated with the national organization. We hold as our motto "Lead Thou Me On."

During the past year the work has consisted in the main of discussions of the conceptions of our religious beliefs by members of the Association and Rev. Father Wieneke of St. Patrick's parish of Cedar Falls.

The Association possesses comfortable club rooms. Members may spend restful hours here or avail themselves of the opportunity of having a peaceful period of study in the room.

It provides social affairs for the enjoyment of its host of members. They have greatly appreciated the cooperation of the Knights of Columbus of Waterloo.

The Association has done much effective work during its nineteen years of existence. It is our earnest wish that in the future it will keep the same unswerving faith to Christian standards that it now maintains.

HOMERIAN

On June 2, 1913, all the organized literary societies met in the auditorium to formally recognize the two newly incorporated sister societies, Homerian and Irving. The Homerian was named in honor of President Seerley and was dedicated with the motto, "We Seek the Best."

During these ten years of its existence Homerian has endeavored to live true to this ideal, seeking to develop in its members the best of those qualities peculiar to the American college girls. Homerians believe that the purpose of a society at Teachers College is to recognize and encourage scholarship by insisting on a high standard of literary work, to stimulate a love for the college by urging participation in student activities, especially forsenics, and to inculcate respect and arouse a desire for college refinement through its social life.

"I see it most clearly when I try to single out from a long line of students some group which shall stand forth as intellectually the best—best in college work, and best in promise for future intellectual development. Much as I should like to do so, I cannot draw the line around my own favorite students in philosophy, nor the leaders in mathematics, nor those successful in biology; nor can I fairly award the palm to the Phi Beta Kappa men who have excelled in all their subjects. It seems to me that stronger than any other group, tougher in intellectual fibre, keener in intellectual interest, better equipped to battle with the coming problems are the COLLEGE DEBATERS—the men who, apart from their regular studies, band themselves together for intellectual controversy with each other and with their friends from other colleges."

How to Get Along With Your Room-Mate

1. Keep her shade and style hair net, no matter what kind you wear.
2. Always have on hand her size hose.
3. Get up late and flunk your quiz, rather than let your buzzer wake her.
4. Pack away all your photographs and pet pin cushions, so that she may have full room for display.
5. Always be dressed to run to the other corridor for a book she loaned.
6. Knit the rest of her sweater after she gets half-way up the back.
7. Run down and get the mail, so that she may rest undisturbed, eating the candy (particularly your favorite pieces) you got yesterday.
8. Do her shopping for her while she goes to the movie, and never ask her to get more than a pin for you.
9. Always take her phone calls even if you have to get out of the tub to do it, but tell her not to bother if you get any.
10. Be a good listener, i. e., always be glad to hear of what a wonderful man Ed is, what a good time she had where she went to school last year how much better they do things back home, etc.
11. Next year, get a single.

Cafe Brulo.

Somebody—Goodness sake! Haven't you fixed your hair yet?
Somebody's room-mate—Fixed it! I haven't found it yet!

SAYINGS OF THE SAGE

All's fair in love and war. They are also alike in other ways.
Love isn't stone blind if the stone is a diamond.
The stepping stone to the altar is a diamond.
Cut glass makes a fine wedding present but a poor engagement ring.
All men needing hair cuts are not in Russia.

The following was contributed by one of our married Senior B.A.'s:
They have perfected a baby cart that shuts up, but as yet they have found no way to make the thing that rides in it keep quiet.

"Keep that School Girl Complexion."

KISSING

The kiss is a form of salutation employed to express affection and transmit germs. In France men kiss one another, and fat generals who pin decorations on the bosoms of heroic privates add a kiss for good measure or as a final test of fortitude. The all-buck kiss does not flourish in America, however, and our army regulations forbid cruel and unusual punishment.

Women kiss one another, but the demonstration is usually devoid of enthusiasm and impresses one as an inexcusable waste of raw material.

Kissing is an art, not an instinct. Like golf and profanity, it has technique that may be acquired only through practice. Those young enough to appreciate a kiss usually make a mess of it. I remember the thrill that shook me when first I kissed my first sweetheart. She was red-headed and I had just put on long pants. I aimed at her mouth and kissed her under the left ear. In later years my batting eye improved, but repetition seldom has the zest of a first performance.

In the kiss of courtship there is the flavor of forbidden fruit. It is a flavor that does not long survive benefit of clergy and one may say that the honeymoon is at an end when a kiss has lost its kick.

The connubial kiss may mean much or little. Wives kiss husbands as the first step in negotiations for the price of a new hat, or because they have been thinking of old sweethearts and feel conscience-stricken, or have seen a perfectly good husband die in the movies, or because they suspect him of having taken a little drink of something that is technically obsolete. Some of them, it may be, are actuated by a pure and holy love, but the more I learn of men the more I doubt this. At any rate, the husband of long standing who receives a voluntary kiss wonders what it is all about, but being a husband of long standing, knows the futility of asking questions.

In sad story books the husband's love grows cold, but in real life he kisses his wife about as often as she will stand for it—and he enjoys it more than she does, for she gets the relayed flavor of a French briar.

The endurance-test movie kiss, popularly known as a clinch, is not properly a kiss, but a form of adhesion closely resembling vulcanizing.

EL INFERNO

St. Peter was admitting candidates to Heaven. There came a knock at the door.

"Who's there?" said St. Peter.

"It's me," was the reply.

"Oh, all right, come on in."

After a short interval there came another knock, and St. Peter called out again,

"Who's there?"

Again was returned the same reply,

"It's me," and again St. Peter opened the golden gate.

Another knock.

"Who's there?"

"It is I," was the answer this time.

St. Peter, wrathfully, in an aside,

("It's another one of those damn school teachers.")

"Go to Hell."

HEARD AT THE HOBO HOUSE

Ned Irving, practicing tone drills for voice power for Miss Martin—

"George! George! Where did you put the hatchet?"

At each successive attempt his voice power did increase very audibly.

Finally, Wes Hicks, on the third floor, trying in vain to sleep, said to his brother George,

"For God's sake, George, tell him where you put that hatchet so he'll shut up and I can get some sleep."

HARDWARE BLUES

I've taken my pins where I've found them,
The plain as well as the jewelled.
At times I was thrilled to the marrow,
But most of the time I've been fooled,
One from a fickle Tau Delt,
The next from a Phi Sig bold,
Another belonged to a Phi Psi,
And one to Phi Delt cold.

I'm not such a vamp as you'd think me,
And it's always a gamble or guess.
For you never can tell till you've worn one
How a pin will look on a dress.
There were times when I thought I should marry,
Though my feelings were often much vexed,
For the longer you stay with a Sig Alph pin
The less time you'll allow to the next.

When I was a freshman with Johnny,
Shy as a high school maid,
He was a Phi Gam junior
And juniors are never afraid.
Older than me, but my first one,
Tall and painfully thin,
But he taught me the way to love and obey
And I learned about frat pins from him.

But now that I'm through with the frat pins
And have learned from all that I've seen,
I know that like those in stories,
All men are not what they seem.
I'm bound for the home for old ladies,
My curtains I've started to hem.
I hope there'll be no male attendants,
For I learned about frat pins from them.

SCENERY ALONG RAINBOW DRIVE

Arthur Brown, noted for his wonderful (?) voice—

“I’m going to try out for Minnesingers.”

Kind Friend—“You couldn’t even make first base.”

A. B.—“No, but I might sing tenor.”

Miss Aitchison: “The people of Chile do not have to depend upon other countries for leather. They use their own hides.”

Miss Uttley: “The word ‘Patagonia’ means ‘big feet.’ The librarian tells me that you have ‘Patagonia’, Mr. Busby.”

T. C. belle, admiring the T. C. shields on display in Berg’s window: “Aren’t those shields good looking?”

Sister dumbell: “Yes, but don’t see why they had to go and spoil them by putting that soap add in the middle.”

(For the benefit of those who see no point to this joke, a word of explanation. The motto of your school is “LUX.”)

Mr. Fagan—Your themes should be written so that even the most stupid of people can understand them.

Freshman (humbly)—Yes, sir. What part don’t you understand?

Some of these guys who have the idea they get by so wonderfully with the wimmen ought to hear themselves discussed some evening in the dormitory.

The Cake-Eater

It is something that is cute and neat
A very small tie and patent leather feet,
A part in his hair and trousers pressed so,
Crumbs in his pockets instead of dough,
A small black derby and a cute pair of spats,
Goes to a dance and thinks he's the cats,
Stands on the floor like a lily so pure,
Some silly girl comes along and says "Sure."
She thinks he's so lovely and acts so refined,
They board a car and she pays the dime.
Listen girls, you might like their tie,
But remember your mother married a REGULAR GUY !

THE DREAM OF THE SORORITIES AT T. C.

FAMOUS FACULTY SAYINGS

Mr. Wester—Just one moment, please.

Mr. Fagan—I may be wrong, but I honestly believe—

Miss Thomes—Ave Maria.

Mr. Fullerton—I must put that in my new book.

Mr. Cable—Oh, you meant to say—

Mr. Scott—I su'pect.

Mr. Newton—Those are not the words of the book. That will do, sit down.

UNPRETENTIOUS ART

A certain painter is confined to an asylum. To persons who visit him, he says—Look at this; it is my latest masterpiece.

They look and see nothing but an expanse of canvas. They ask—

What does that represent?

That, why, that represents the passage of the Israelites through the Red Sea.

Beg pardon, but where is the sea?

It has been driven back.

And where are the Israelites?

They have crossed over.

And the Egyptians?

Will be here directly. That's the sort of painting I like—simple and unpretentious.—Art Record.

One would think that the Bartlett Hall girls have been in the army from the ease with which they salute.

Mr. Finkenbinder says that by means of his new machine he can tell whether anyone with a guilty look has been stealing or not.

The parlor was dark.
The hour eleven-thirty.
Her father came to the top of the stairs and called.
No answer.
He came to the bottom of the stairs and called.
Again no answer.
Angrily striding to the parlor he switched on the light.
There was no one there!

—Jade

Prof. Begaman—You don't get a shock when you step on the car tracks because the trolley wire acts as the third rail. If you put one foot on the third rail and the other on the tracks you would get a shock.

Timid Co-ed—If I put one foot on the car track and one on the trolley wire would I get a shock?

Prof. Begaman—You would shock the whole town!

Garramoni—I know a nice red-headed girl you can take to the dance.

Ned Irving—But I don't like red hair.

Garramoni—Maybe she'd dye it.

Ned—Holy smoke! Is she fat, too?

Pres. Homer H. Seerley, Iowa State Teachers College, wrote us, in the year 1919, the following significant and highly valued communication:

"Enclosed find check for renewal of EDUCATION, the 39th remittance without a skip—being one of Bicknell's Charter Members in 1879."

President Seerley is still a subscriber to and reader of EDUCATION, which is one of the oldest of the high class monthly educational magazines of the United States. You will find it indispensable in your work as a teacher. It is now in its 43rd year and volume. Price $4.00 a year. If you take other periodicals we will quote lowest club rates on all. This plan will probably save you nearly the whole price of EDUCATION. Write for further particulars.

Good Salaries for Grade Teachers

ALBERT TEACHERS' AGENCY

25 East Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

has secured for grade teachers the past three years an average salary of over $1400. A large proportion received $1600 or better and a goodly number were placed at $1900 to $2040 with future prospects. The number of placements was very large and the positions most desirable.

We can place grade teachers in high class Private Schools, in Public Schools in cities large and small; in the Middle West, in the Far West, in the East and in the South; in choice residential suburbs, in progressive new towns with good school buildings and equipment, and money with which to pay good salaries.

We have the patronage. Every Normal School or College graduate teaching in the grades should be on our list. Write us today. Our booklet, "Teaching as a Business," free.

The one thing that interests and touches every life in the economic relations of man to man is

BUSINESS

Every one, no matter what his occupation, must meet others in a business way. Why then, should not a portion of everybody's education be devoted to this universally needed preparation?

Don't think of a business education as mere coaching for some small job but a preparation for the larger duties of real life, so that you may the better fill your place and reap the reward that the great economic world has in store for those who are prepared.

Gates Waterloo Business College

is a real Educational institution devoting its attention to giving young people a thorough training in the essential things of a usable education that fits into your life work.

Make this education a part of your training for life.
